REPORT

The goal of the workshop is to utilize new technologies in the context of a value – centered education. This workshop is designed for a group of life science students and Research scholars. One day Workshop on “Computational Analysis of small Molecules and Molecular Modeling” took place on 16/12/19 at PG Computer Science lab.

The Workshop was organized by department of biochemistry. The training team arrived at the venue one day before on 15/12/19, in order to meet fine tuning of the agenda and Coordination of facilitations.

The inaugural function was blessedly started with Tamizhthai Vazhthu. By 10.00AM.

The Welcome address was delivered by Dr.B.Hebsibah Elsie, Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry. After the felicitation, the technical session was started by Dr. M. Balaji, Managing Director, Akshaya Computational Medicine Private Limited, Chennai delivered lecture on “Computational analysis of small molecules and molecular Modeling, in detail and given demonstration, especially for Modeling and drug designing process. He also explained the various steps involved in designing a single protein molecule and drug compounds. Finally bringing the session to an end concluding the technical session and vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. K. Shoba. M.Sc., M.Phil., Assistant Professor of Biochemistry.
